1st Reading: 2 Samuel 23.1-7

The oracle of David, son of Jesse, the oracle of the man whom God exalted, the anointed of the God of Jacob, the favourite of the Strong One of Israel: <sup>2</sup>The spirit of the Lord speaks through me, his word is upon my tongue.

<sup>3</sup>The God of Israel has spoken, the Rock of Israel has said to me: One who rules over people justly, ruling in the fear of God,

<sup>4</sup>is like the light of morning, like the sun rising on a cloudless morning, gleaming from the rain on the grassy land. <sup>5</sup>Is not my house like this with God? For he has made with me an everlasting covenant, ordered in all things and secure. Will he not cause to prosper all my help and my desire? <sup>6</sup>But the godless are all like thorns that are thrown away; for they cannot be picked up with the hand; <sup>7</sup>to touch them one uses an iron bar or the shaft of a spear. And they are entirely consumed in fire on the spot.

Hear the word of the Lord

Thanks be to God
Psalms 132.1-12

1 Lord, remember David and all his trouble: how he swore an oath to the Lord, and vowed to the Mighty One of Jacob;

2 'I will not enter the shelter of my house: nor climb into the comfort of my bed;

3 'I will not give sleep to my eyes: or slumber to my eyelids,

4 'Till I find out a place for the ark of the Lord: a dwelling for the Mighty One of Jacob.'

5 Lo, we heard of it at Ephrathah: we found it in the fields of Ja-ar.

6 Let us go to the place of his dwelling: let us fall upon our knees before his footstool.

7 Arise, O Lord, into your resting-place: you, and the ark of your might.

8 Let your priests be clothed with righteousness: and let your faithful ones shout for joy.

9 For the sake of David your servant: do not turn away the face of your anointed.

10 The Lord has sworn to David: an oath which he will not break;

11 'One who is the fruit of your body: I will set upon your throne.

12 'If your children will keep my covenant and the commands which I teach them: their children also shall sit upon your throne for ever.'

Second Reading: Revelation 1.4b-8

<sup>4</sup> John to the seven churches that are in Asia: Grace to you and peace from him who is and who was and who is to come, and from the seven spirits who are before his throne, <sup>5</sup>and from Jesus Christ, the faithful witness, the firstborn of the dead, and the ruler of the kings of the earth. To him who loves us and freed us from our sins by his blood, each other.

But the question also applies to us and I leave you with some confronting stuff and some gooey stuff to finish with.

The confronting stuff.

"What have you done?"

I'm sure there are times in our life that we have asked this question of someone else. And it is highly likely that we have had no understanding of the person, no understanding of what has led them to this place, this time, this predicament, this future. Nothing happens in a vacuum. We ought to be very careful before we ask this question.

The gooey stuff which someone else wrote for me.

And Pilate's question: "What have you done?" How is it to be answered in a few words? It is the story of Jesus from the moment of the Annunciation, through Bethlehem and Nazareth, to the public life of preaching and teaching, healing and liberating and finally suffering, dying and rising – out of love. Instead of answering, Jesus speaks of the nature of his kingship.

And us...

Your story, your life, what you have done cannot be answered in a few words. It is the story of you. Your own unique and fantastic story. From your parents, to your public life to your private life with all its triumphs and disasters. With all its tedium and dreariness, colour and sparkle. Sometimes for better, sometimes for worse. We can never have a complete perspective to understand what it is that we have truly done in a holistic and multidimensional way.

When you reflect on your life, what you have done, you will probably realise that it is far more boggling than you ever believed possible. And when God eventually reflects on your life with you, then you will discover it is far more richer, far more complex and even far more lovelier than you could ever have imagined.

Today's Homily

Today's homily

"What have you done?" A reflection for Christ the king November 21st. Pilate asked Jesus "What have you done?"

It's a good question to have a play with because it applies directly to us in all sorts of ways. Notice please that in the scripture the question isn't answered.

Let's start with what Pilate is not asking.

Pilate is not asking Jesus for his CV.

He was not asking for a comprehensive list of all Jesus miracles, wine making, storm stilling and teaching.

Pilate is not asking if Jesus matched up to the KPI's and job description of a Rabbi / Messiah / all time good guy / faith healer / teacher.

We are not looking in on a job interview here.

In fact I actually don't think Pilate is really looking for an answer at all. I do think Pilate is really asking himself...

Yikes! What are my options here? I think Pilate is searching for a way forward. Looking for an escape hatch.

I think Pilate is asking

Do you understand the mess that you have got yourself in, and me as well. I am constrained by pressure from above, my boss Herod, and from pressure below the baying crowds. What have you done... to... me?

I wonder how Pilate spoke the question.

When I read the text I imagine Pilate asking the question in a hushed sense of disbelief. For me at least it's almost as if he can't believe that Jesus would be so crazy as to place himself under the possibility of crucifixion.

Do you understand that the consequences of your actions could leave you as a mangled corpse on a cross?

So when I read Pilate's question it's like... Do you understand the enormity of your actions and what must certainly happen now?

It's a rhetorical question. I don't think Pilate really wanted an answer; it was a cry of exasperation. This recalcitrant Jew was just one more complexity that Pilate didn't need on his desk. The chief priests and Jews have handed Jesus over and Pilate doesn't know why. He has no understanding of the Jewish theological nitty gritty.

To dig a little deeper it might help if we have a look at the previous sentence.

"Pilate says 'I am not a Jew, am I? Your own nation and the chief priests have handed you over to me'".

Your own people have handed you over Jesus. How is it that your own people can hand you over knowing what the likely outcome would be? How could they turn against one of their own?

What would inspire people who hate Roman rule to bring one of their own with demands for Roman judgement and death? You must have done something pretty jolly spectacular to make them so grumpy.

But dig a little deeper again. Jesus did not arrive out of the blue because the Jewish authorities got up one day, had a shower, brushed their hair, and decided that they had nothing else written in their diary. The question 'What have you done?' had been brewing for several years now. Both from the Pilate / Roman timeline and from Jesus' own timeline. This encounter between Jesus and Pilate is where the two inevitabilities finally crash into <sup>6</sup> and made us to be a kingdom, priests serving his God and Father, to him be glory and dominion for ever and ever. Amen.

<sup>7</sup> Look! He is coming with the clouds; every eye will see him, even those who pierced him; and on his account all the tribes of the earth will wail. So it is to be. Amen.

<sup>8</sup> 'I am the Alpha and the Omega', says the Lord God, who is and who was and who is to come, the Almighty.

Hear the word of the Lord
Thanks be to God

The Holy Gospel: John 18.33-37

Alleluia, alleluia.

Blessed is he who comes in the name of the Lord! Blessed is the kingdom of our father David that is to come .

Alleluia, alleluia

The Lord be with you.

Praise to you, Lord Jesus Christ

<sup>33</sup> Then Pilate entered the headquarters again, summoned Jesus, and asked him, 'Are you the King of the Jews?' <sup>34</sup> Jesus answered, 'Do you ask this on your own, or did others tell you about me?' <sup>35</sup> Pilate replied, 'I am not a Jew, am I? Your own nation and the chief priests have handed you over to me. What have you done?' <sup>36</sup> Jesus answered, 'My kingdom is not from this world. If my kingdom were from this world, my followers would be fighting to keep me from being handed over to the Jews. But as it is, my kingdom is not from here.' <sup>37</sup> Pilate asked him, 'So you are a king?' Jesus answered, 'You say that I am a king. For this I was born, and for this I came into the world, to testify to the truth. Everyone who belongs to the truth listens to my voice.'

Christ our king ... 'Come and reign in our lives'

For those who will spend today in hospital or in nursing homes. That the staff may recognise the face of the Saviour in their clients. In a moment of silence we offer to the King, all who have asked our prayers. (Pause 1...2...3...)
